https://pascal-erskine.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/01PASCAL_ERSK/ufkes6/cdi_proquest_journals_1646465783 -Edelman, Marc. “The District Court Decision in O’Bannon v. National Collegiate Athletic Association: A Small Step Forward for College-Athlete Rights, and a Gateway for Far Grander Change.” Washington and Lee law review 71.4 (2014): 2318A-. Print.

https://pascal-erskine.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/01PASCAL_ERSK/ufkes6/cdi_proquest_journals_2645529635 -Thompson, Taylor P. “Maximizing NIL Rights for College Athletes.” Iowa law review 107.3 (2022): 1347–1387. Print.

https://pascal-erskine.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/01PASCAL_ERSK/ufkes6/cdi_jstor_primary_41432141 -Melouk, S H, and B B Keskin. “Team Assignments and Scheduling for the NCAA Basketball Tournament.” The Journal of the Operational Research Society 63.5 (2012): 620–630. Web.

https://pascal-erskine.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/01PASCAL_ERSK/ufkes6/cdi_proquest_journals_3115168980 -Sullivan, William M et al. “Is the ‘Revered Tradition of Amateurism’ Over for College Sports?” Intellectual property & technology law journal 36.9 (2024): 8–13. Print.

https://pascal-erskine.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/01PASCAL_ERSK/ufkes6/cdi_proquest_reports_217016619 -Goldfisher, Alastair. “Western Regional Finals Brought Big Spenders to San Jose.” Silicon Valley/San Jose business journal (1997): 10-. Print.